

Girls football week – Report written by the year 6 Sports Crew

Girls' football week is a national week run by the FA, to encourage female participation in sport.

At Irchester, the sport leaders drummed up interest on the playground, bringing many girls along to trial sessions. In those sessions, we had music and a couple of rounds of football. We also split the girls into teams and we had team captains to encourage the team members. They also bonded together and put their little brains to the test. We challenged them to work together to make their skills better. Because we had so many girls, we had to split the hall into sections and they had a blast. As sports leaders, we enjoyed making girls more active in football!

After the event, Mr Higginson gave the children some information about local football teams so that they could continue to learn new skills.
